

Mercury Free General Statement

March 2017

No PennEngineering fastener products contain any functional mercury. Mercury is not intentionally added to any PennEngineering fastener products. Manufacturing processes used at all PennEngineering manufacturing facilities do not cause mercury contamination. To the best of our knowledge all raw materials used and finishes applied to our fasteners are not at risk of causing mercury contamination.

Regards,

Director of Global Marketing